

Dominic May

Co-opted Governor and Chair of the Resources Committee

I been privileged and thrilled to have had both my children provided with a wonderful start to their education by Coleridge Primary School. My daughter has now gone on to secondary school, but my son has just started Year 6, so he's feeling all grown up, looking forward to the school play and a week away in the spring.

I first became a Parent Governor six years ago. It's been a challenge and a pleasure to find ways to help the school where I can, but also to work alongside the fantastic staff to support them in their aims.

I am an architect with my own local practice, but I have spent a good deal of my working life in reasonably large sized corporate environments. Now that I have my own business, it has allowed me the time and flexibility to be a school governor. And very rewarding it is, too!
