

Governor Profile

Hello, my name is Nina Job and Coleridge Primary School has been a big part of my life since 2007 when my eldest child joined reception during the first year of the school's expansion. She left last year and now my second child is in year three and happy!

I work as a Health Improvement and Education professional and have lots of experience of supporting schools to become Healthy Schools and deliver a high quality Personal Social Health Education curriculum.

I know that having both of these elements within a school supports children's development as creative, healthy, enquiring individuals and members of their communities. I think that this is a big part of what Coleridge is committed to doing to support excellence in learning, and as a new member of the governing body, I am really keen to back this.

In this same vein I want to work with my fellow governors to engage more extensively with parents from the diverse communities the school population reflects, so that positive outcomes are achieved for all the pupils and families of Coleridge.
