Topic & Science

Our topic this term is All Dressed Up. Clothes are an important part of our lives. They can keep us warm (or cool). We can wear different colours and designs and change them for different occasions, we can follow the latest fashions – and even make them ourselves! Here are a few ideas to get excited about clothes:

Proper Project

Clothes Through The Ages

Research clothes through different periods of time. As fashion changes, the materials and styles of clothes change.

Is there a style of clothes that you particularly like? Design a poster to highlight some of your favourite trends or materials from this period in time. You could even design your own outfit inspired by your chosen time period.

Create 'n Make

Design and create an outfit for your favourite toy.

Think about what materials you can use. You might want to use recycled materials, including bottles and food packaging.

Can you design a range of outfits for different occasions?

Espanol

We will be learning numbers beyond 20 in Spanish this half term. Have a go at this game:

Magic Cards—can you match the numbers in Spanish to the digits? How quickly can you do this?

Let's talk...

School Uniform

In some schools, children wear a uniform. We don't have a school uniform. Do you think we should? Why do you think some schools have a uniform?

Out and about...

The Museum of London has lots of exhibits of clothes through time. The British Museum also has exhibits of clothes from around the world.

Have you ever seen an elephant in a dress? Or a giraffe in a pair of jeans? Of course not, because unlike animals, only humans wear clothes. Clothes are an important part of our lives. They can keep us warm (or cool) and we wear different colours and designs and change them for different occasions, we can follow the latest fashion trends – and even make them ourselves! So what do the clothes you wear say about you?
