

Nursery: Learning at Home

I hope you all had a lovely week, and managed to make some rainbow foam! This week some of the nursery staff wanted to let you know what they have been up to whilst at home. They all miss you very much and are excited to see what you have been up to. I hope you have all managed to spend some time outside enjoying the sunshine. Have a look at what they've been doing on the other page. Parents- please see the additional letter I have written for you this week.

The Hungry Caterpillar

When spending time in my garden and going for my daily walk, I have noticed a lot of new butterflies flying around me. I've been trying to spot the colours on their wings, but they fly too fast. Have you spotted any? Do you have the hungry caterpillar story at home? If you don't, then click on this link to listen and watch the story.

Just like in the story, real caterpillars transform into butterflies. Can you find out how they change? Have a look at this site to find out more about how caterpillars change.

Have a go at making your own hungry caterpillar. You could paint one. You could even try using a potato masher to print circles for the body, or use your finger prints. How many circles or finger prints will you use? You could use egg cartons; count how many you will need. If you want to, you could even make the butterfly or the pupa, or you may have your own ideas. I would love to see your creations, so please send them to nursery@coleridgeprimary.net. I will try and create one too.

The Hungry Caterpillar fruit salad!

The hungry caterpillar had to eat a lot of food to grow into a butterfly. How many oranges did he eat? How many plums did he eat? If you have the fruit in your house from the story, have a go at making a hungry caterpillar fruit salad with these ingredients: 1 apple, 2 pears, 3 plums, 4 strawberries and 5 oranges (or segments). If not, then use what you have and write down your own recipe. You can draw pictures to show how many of each fruit you used. You will need some help chopping the fruit. Once you have finished share your delicious fruit salad with your family.

Tidy up Time

I hope that you are all helping to tidy up your toys after you have played with them. Listen to our tidy up song when it's time to tidy up in your house.
