Let's say these examples:

city

When the grapheme 'c' is before an 'e', 'i' or 'y', its sound is soft and it makes the /s/ sound.

Kit, Sam and Prince Asim needed to follow a ginger cat to find the next clue that would lead them to the missing gem.
“Let’s go outside,” said Sam.

“Look!” said Kit. “There is a ginger cat!” The cat spotted them and ran off down a narrow alley. “Quick, follow it!” said Prince Asim.

They followed the ginger cat to a door in the wall. The cat went inside. "The next clue must be in here," said Sam as they walked towards the door.

Can you spot any c words on the walls?
