

Adding -ed

Space Rock

Let's practise Sam's Sounds and Common Exception Words!

ie

Flapjack

This week, we are learning to spell the common exception words please and lived.

please

Play

Lived

Play

Today, we are learning to write words that contain -ed.

The children were excited that they were going to do some art. Mr Adams covered the tables with newspaper and put out the tools that the children were going to need. Mrs Tan explained the activity to the children. She reminded the children to take care with their work and to keep clean!

Kit, Sam, Gabi and Jake were all at the same table. Kit lifted one of the black stones from the middle of the table. He lifted his arm up and pretended the stone was falling. “Watch out! My space rock is landing on Planet Earth!” said Kit, giggling. Sam, Gabi and Jake laughed.

The children each chose a stone and some paint. Then, they started to splatter the paint over their stones, using a paintbrush.

“This is so much fun!” shouted Sam excitedly.

Mrs Tan came over to Sam. “Yes, Sam. This is fun! Please be careful not to get paint on your clothes,” she said.

The tables are covered with newspaper. Kit notices some jumbled up letters on the newspaper. Rearrange the jumbled letters to make real words. Write down the words.

Hint: They are all verbs with -ed at the end of them.

NEWS

c crashed car

Check

NEWS

edleaed c

Check

NEWS

ca i e d e ch

Check

NEWS

l f f l e e d d

Check

NEWS

u jumped j

Check

What Is Mr Adams Saying?

A teacher pops into Kit and Sam's classroom and is chatting to Mr Adams. Click on Mr Adams and write down the words you hear him say.

Hint: All of the words end with -ed.

Next

Next

Next

Next

Next

Next

needed hunted wished splashed waited licked

Check

It was not Sam that Mrs Tan should have been worried about... Kit was struggling and splatting the paint onto his stone. Paint was going everywhere and on everyone at his table!

Sentence Time

Kit is enjoying this art activity. He is so busy that he does not realise where the paint is going! Who is going to tell him to pay more attention? Look at the picture and write a sentence to match.

“Kit, please stop spraying me with paint!” shouted Sam.

Sound Buttons On/Off

Show

Kit looked up at Sam. Suddenly, he realised what was happening. No wonder it was taking ages to get paint on his stone! He wished he had an apron on. What would Mrs Tan say when she sees him? Would Mum be cross with him, too?

Today, we have learnt...

Adding -ed

The adventure continues next lesson!

twinkl