

Nursery: Learning at Home

Hello, I hope you enjoyed making the banana lollipops last week. This week, we are going to be thinking about our planet. What planet do we live on? It's important that we all look after our planet, just like we look after our Nursery. Please send me your posters and I can put them up in the Nursery.

Duffy's Lucky Escape!

I don't know if you have noticed, but I've been seeing lots more rubbish on the streets and in the park when I go for a walk. Next time you are out, see if you spot any rubbish. Throwing rubbish on the floor is not only bad for people but it's also not very nice for the animals and plants that live around us.

Listen to me reading the story 'Duffy's Lucky Escape' by Ellie Jackson: <https://youtu.be/izelZMvakac>.

How do you think Duffy felt when he ate all of the rubbish? What do you think we should do with our rubbish?

I think Duffy needs cheering up; could you make Duffy a turtle friend? You could draw/paint or make a turtle using your old rubbish. How many flippers will you have to make?

Pollution Experiment!

Our sea, rivers and lakes will become polluted, if we don't recycle, or we drop litter on the floor. Take two bowls or jars and fill both of them with clear water. Add some toy sea creatures, if you have them, or lego figures, play animals, or any other toys you might have. In one of the containers, add some black food colouring or paint, then drop in some rubbish. You could put in crisp packets, straws, or other rubbish you have lying around. Which container looks nicer? Which container do you think your toys/animals prefer to be in? Now think about the sea. What do you think might happen to the sea creatures, if the sea looked like your polluted container? Could you make a poster telling people to look after our environment? You could tell people to put their litter in a bin, or recycle their plastic. You could put your poster in your window so that people can see.

Recycling!

Have a listen to the Recycling song. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0046dIBOE50>

What do you think recycling means? It means that your rubbish can be made into something else. Do you recycle your rubbish at home? Do you have a special bin, where you put your recycling? What kind of things can we recycle? Listen and join in with the song, to help you remember what you can recycle. See how many things you can recycle in your house. If you can recycle something, it will have this symbol below. Can you find any old packaging that has this symbol?
