Take One Book...

Choose a story book and use it to help you complete the following activities.

Activities & Games!

- Design a new front cover for your book. Think about how you might encourage other children to read your book.
- Choose a picture from your book and write some speech bubbles for the characters in it. You can follow the story or change the scene entirely!
- Introduce a new character to your story, thinking about how they might interact with the existing characters.
- Make a puppet theatre and design some puppets of your favourite characters. Act out the story.

What happens next?

What do you think might have happened to the characters after the story ended? Have a go at writing the next part. What would all the characters get up to? You could add a dramatic twist!

Adjectives

Adjectives are describing words.

Look through your book and try to find 10 adjectives that you really like. Write a list of your adjectives, making sure you copy the spellings correctly. Think about why the author used the adjectives. Do you think they made the book more interesting? What different adjectives could they have used?

Let's talk...

Is there a moral in your story? Does the main character learn a lesson? Why do you think the author has chosen this message?
